Substance Use Disorder Recovery Organizations

Juneau Alliance for Mental Health, Inc. (JAMHI) and NCADD (National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence) have merged organizations and combined services. The new non-profit organization is called JAMHI Health & Wellness Inc. Integrated behavioral health, substance use, primary care, pharmacy and wellness services are available. Including assessments, treatment & case management. They provide 24/7 on-call response with immediate screening and crisis intervention for mental health emergencies to individuals of all ages. They also offer a medically assisted treatment (MAT) program specifically using buprenorphine. Residential housing, group housing and supported living services are available for individuals with serious mental illness, co-occurring disorders or emotional issues. They accept major insurances, Medicaid, Medicare and use a sliding fee scale for those who do not have insurance and financially qualify.

The Rainforest Recovery Center offers comprehensive services for people with substance use, substance dependence and other addiction disorders. Individualized treatment is offered for clients through both residential and outpatient programs. They treat patients with co-occurring psychiatric, medical and/or substance use disorders. They also offer an Office Based Opioid Treatment (OBOT) program that is designed for the specific treatment of opioid use disorder. The program offers buprenorphine or naltrexone in conjunction with counseling, random drug screens, and medication checks (call backs).

Gastineau Human Services provides intensive outpatient and outpatient treatment for adults to overcome alcoholism and substance abuse. Based upon a solid foundation of proven counseling and case management techniques, GHS counselors and staff address the client’s long-term needs as well as the practical problems of daily living. Services provided include assessments, treatment planning, group and individual therapy, as well as gender and culture specific therapy. GHS also has a transitional housing program to help residents gain stability and progress to independent living.

Juneau Youth Services is a comprehensive behavioral health provider for children and youth, and their families. They provide a full array of emergency, residential, and community-based programs, including both mental health and chemical dependency services. Our overall admission philosophy at JYS is to provide individualized, wraparound services to children and families that are strengths-based, and provided in the most normative (least restrictive) settings. This translates into providing programs that simulate homelike environments that emphasize the child’s development of positive, nurturing relationships and the skills needed to be successful within the community and in life. A primary goal for all of our programs is to maintain or reunite the child with his or her family, whenever this is in the best interests of the child.

Southeast Alaska Regional Health Consortium is a non-profit tribal health consortium of 18 Native communities serving the health interests of the Tlingit, Haida, Tsimshian, and other Native people. SEARHC offers a wide range of behavioral health services with psychiatrists, clinical psychologists, and behavioral health therapists on staff. Services include assessment and intake, individualized prevention, and counseling for ages 4 and above.

Haven House is a faith-based organization providing supported and structured sober living opportunities to foster healing and self-sufficiency for women coming out of prison.

Front Street Community Health Center (FSCHC) is a non-profit organization providing integrated medical care, behavioral health care, and case management services with an emphasis on meeting the needs of homeless or otherwise underserved individuals in Juneau. FSCHC offers primary medical care, comprehensive assessments, individual and family counseling, tobacco cessation, and a medication assisted treatment program for substance abuse disorders. FSCHC respects individual differences and also treats patients who may be thinking about quitting or cutting back but are not yet ready. All services are offered on a sliding fee scale based on household income and patients are not turned away due to inability to pay.

Bartlett Regional Hospital Emergency Department has the capacity to treat patients in private settings, which include 3 trauma bays, a minor surgery room, an orthopedic room, 5 exam rooms, a behavioral health room and an eye/ear/nose/throat (ENT) room. The department has been certified as a level 4 trauma center. Outpatient medically assisted treatment(MAT) is available through Bartlett Outpatient Psychiatry Services (BOPS).

Great Bear Recovery Collective is a program under JAMHI Health & Wellness that aspires to provide meaningful support to community members in Juneau, Alaska who fall within the substance use continuum. They seek to cultivate a thriving fellowship of people in recovery who have gained a life of meaning and purpose and wish to share it back. Great Bear Recovery Collective host regular sober activities and is focused on learning to have healthy fun again.
